1 John

1 John 5:14

- Since we “faith” in Him (v. 13), we have confidence in Him.
 - An interesting word, 3954 παρρησία [parrhesia /par-rhay-see-ah/]. From Pas (all) and rheo (flowing). That is, holding nothing back, unreserved, etc. See Mk 8:32 for a common usage.
 - Often translated “openly” or “plainly” or “boldly”
 - John 7:13
 - John 7:26
 - 1 John 4:17
- “If we ask anything...”
 - The word “anything” is not in the text. In order to have confidence, we must do two things-
 - Ask! The “if” with a subjunctive verb (might ask) is a possibility, not an assurance.
 - Ask within His will!
 - “Ye have not because ye ask not. Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss...” (James 4:2-3)

1 John 5:14 – Translation Issues

- “And how bold and free we then become in his presence, freely asking according to his will, sure that he’s listening.” (1 John 5:14, The Message)
 - As believers, we have this confidence, we don’t become “bold and free,” we are “bold and free” in Him.
 - Bold in Him is far different from bold in His presence. One is dependent, the other is arrogant.

1 John 5:15

- “If we know that He hears us”
 - An “if” with a non-subjunctive is an assurance not a possibility.
 - “Since we know that He hears us” conveys the confidence we have in Him.
- Note again that we cannot pray for “whatever” and have any confidence. The criteria of “His will” remains.
- “We know that we have the requests” even though the requests may not yet be given.
 - “Know” is eido, a perception knowledge, not an experiential knowledge.

1 John 5:15 – Translation Issues

- “And if we know that he hears us—whatever we ask—we know that we have what we asked of him.” (1 John 5:15, NIV)
 - This is a “confidence” that we have NOT been given.
 - That which is out of His will He refuses to hear.
 - “that which we ask” would be a better translation, knowing that we are only asking “that which is in His will.”

1 John 5:16-17

- “If anyone sees...”
 - To see here is by perception or by sight
 - Be careful calling others out on sin when it is perception only
 - Remember habeas corpus – “you shall have the body”
 - A writ of habeas corpus is called the “Great Writ” and is a protective measure for the accused
 - If others are accusing you, it is not unwise to exercise this right or a writ!
- “his brother...”
 - This is a key element in interpreting this passage
 - John has consistently used “brother” to be “believer”

1 John 5:16-17

- “If anyone sees...”
- “his brother...”
- “sin a sin which is not unto death”
 - Catholic theology has created “mortal” and “venial” sins based on this passage.
 - What sin could this be?
 - Unbelief?
 - It leads to spiritual death
 - A capital crime?
 - It leads to death...at least if you do it in Texas (or in the Old Testament)
 - Taking the Lord’s Supper wrong?
 - It led to the death of some but not all

1 John 5:16-17

- “If anyone sees...”
- “his brother...”
- “sin a sin which is not unto death”
- “he shall ask, and he shall give him life...”
 - Who shall ask whom, and who shall give this life?
 - KJV gives the best word for word translation. NASB gives an interpretation: “he shall ask and God will give...”
- “there is a sin unto death”
 - Literally, there is “sin” unto death.
 - It is singular, but not necessarily particular (there is no definite article).
 - See Matthew 12:31, Romans 5:12-13
- “I do not say he should pray for it”
 - Literally “make request” not “pray” (an interpretation, not a translation).

1 John 5:16-17

- “If anyone sees...”
- “his brother...”
- “sin a sin which is not unto death”
- “he shall ask, and he shall give him life...”
- “there is a sin unto death”
- “I do not say he should pray for it”
- “All unrighteousness is sin, and there is sin not unto death”
 - If “the wages of sin is death” how is there “sin not unto death?”
 - By theological necessity, the death here must be physical death.
 - Not every sin comes with the death penalty.

1 John 5:16-17

- A possible interpretation
 - If you, as a believer, are wronged by another believer, but that sin is not a capital crime, ask that believer to repent, and then be ready to freely give them “life” when they do so.
 - You have committed a sin
 - There is no further injustice done if this sin does not “go to court”
 - I am here to forgive you, if you will allow me to do so
- Is there any Biblical evidence?
 - John 6:63 uses “life” in a non-literal manner
 - 2 Corinthians 3:6 says the Spirit “gives life,” but life is not used here as eternal life, but rather real life.
- This is not a strong argument, but all arguments on these verses have some problems.

1 John 5:18-19

- Who is “born of God?” –see 1 Jn 5:1
- No one “born of God sins,” but “if we say we have no sin, we lie” (1:8).
 - “unrighteousness is sin” (v. 17) and “if you confess...He will cleanse you of all unrighteousness” (1:9)
- “but keeps himself”
 - KJV is correct
 - NASB is an interpretation an incorrect grammatically: “He (Christ) who was born of God keeps him (the believer).”
 - While this is true theologically, it is not what these words actually say.
 - There is a reflexive “keeping” in the text, thus “keeps himself” is the only option.
- “the evil one does not touch him”
 - This is a statement of result
 - “resist the devil and he will flee from you”
 - Satan has no jurisdiction over God’s property (v. 19)

1 John 5:20

- “The Son of God has come and given us understanding”
 - This is not in a Calvinist sense, but simply the truth of Hebrews 1:1-3
- “so that we may know him”
 - This is an experiential knowledge
 - “We know that the Son of God has come” is a reflective knowledge...brain power
- “This is the true God and eternal life”
 - "Jesus is God" and "Jesus is eternal life." Two powerful statements.
 - Greek is literally, "This the true God and Eternal life is."
 - The "This" can be nothing other than Jesus Christ, God's Son.
 - This is what John said in the prologue (1:1-2)

1 John 5:21

- Guard yourselves from idols
 - This seems like a strange conclusion
 - John has just said, “Jesus is God” and “Jesus is eternal life”
 - Jesus as eternal God is the only Christian position. All other positions and concepts of Jesus are "idols." Thus, Jehovah's Witnesses and Mormons are idol worshipers, worshiping an idol they call Jesus, just as the Hebrews worshiped an idol they called Yahweh.
